

Which method runs faster for an array with all keys identical, basic selection sort or basic insertion sort?

Answer:

Basic Insertion sort works faster because it will check only its previous element and . So the complexity of it will be linear. But in case of Basic Selection sort it has to iterate for all the elements in the array and it has complexity of $O(N^2)$